

Carroll and Butler's five Squash 50

1. Control

Control is the ability to direct the ball to a specific location on the court.

Control is achieved through a combination of technique, footwork, and racket head control.

Control is the foundation of all other skills in squash.

Control is the ability to direct the ball to a specific location on the court.

Control is achieved through a combination of technique, footwork, and racket head control.

Control is the foundation of all other skills in squash.

Control is the ability to direct the ball to a specific location on the court.

Control is achieved through a combination of technique, footwork, and racket head control.

Control is the foundation of all other skills in squash.

Control is the ability to direct the ball to a specific location on the court.

Control is achieved through a combination of technique, footwork, and racket head control.

Control is the foundation of all other skills in squash.

Control is the ability to direct the ball to a specific location on the court.

Control is achieved through a combination of technique, footwork, and racket head control.